Chapter 1 by Maddiepuppy5

I walk into a house with three bowls.

What the heck? Who leaves three bowls of oatmeal out?

I walk to the first bowl, " Is there something wrong with it?"

I walk to the second, " Am i getting tricked?"

I walk to the last bowl, " Why is this bowl so tiny?!"

Chapter 2 by Campbellsoup �by - was gone for SO long, but i'm back :)   🖉

I skip along the path, holding Granny's basket, admiring the way my cloak billows out behind me, when a wolf approaches me.

"Hello, little girl," He grins creepily. "Where does your grandmother live?"

"What the actual fuck?" I yell. "What kind of creep are you? And what kind of wolf TALKS?? Stay

"TAKEEEE THAT! AND THAT! AND THAT!" I screech, stomping on his stomach and pulling his wolfy tail.

Finally satisfied, I pick up my basket and start skipping away from the wolf.

MORAL OF THE STORY: Don't mess with little girls in the woods.

Chapter 3 by ˚Sehnsucht˚

The spindle gleams in front of me.

It's golden beauty highlighted by the perfect ray of sun, hitting it just right.

Back the hell up, I think.

My face goes pale, as I think about the facts.

1. I am in a completely dark room
2. In said room there is a spot of sunlight
3. The sunlight is centered perfectly on the spindle

I turn, there's a bed that looks like it's perfectly tailored to me. My heart beats faster as I realize the door has disappeared. My hands fumble around the area it used to be.

I sit on the ground near the now sealed up doorway. I press my plams against the ground. I may be stuck here, but I'm not touching the bed or that spindle.
